

Clean Agent Cylinder Inspection Tag Order Form

NFPA 2001 requires that all clean agent cylinders be inspected on a semi-annual basis and the results of the cylinder inspection be recorded on a cylinder tag. NAFED has developed an inspection record tag that is laid out to meet these record keeping requirements. One side of the cylinder tag provides space to record the required information and the other side references the section from NFPA 2001 that requires the inspection. These tags can also be used to record the cylinder inspection information required for carbon dioxide system cylinders per NFPA 12 and Halon 1301 cylinders as required per NFPA 12A.

NFPA 2001, Clean Agent Extinguisher Systems, 2008 Edition, requires that all cylinders be checked on a semi-annual basis and the results recorded on a cylinder tag.

"7.1.3 At least semiannually, the agent quality and pressure refillable containers shall be checked.

7.1.6 For halocarbon clean agents, the date of inspection, gross weight of cylinder plus agent or net weight of agent, type of agent, person performing the inspection and where applicable, the pressure at a recorded temperature shall be recorded on a tag attached to the container. For inert gas clean agents, the date of inspection, type of agent, person performing the inspection, and where applicable, the pressure at a recorded temperature shall be recorded on a tag attached to the container.

The front of the tag references the section from NFPA 2001 that requires the inspection.

Tag is 5" x 3"

The back of the tag provides space to record the required inspection information.

④ Vinyl Envelopes

Each unit of 100 tags come with 50 vinyl envelopes. The envelopes are constructed of 8-gauge clear vinyl with a flap on the top. If required for wet locations, the flap may be sealed with a clear tape. A hole is provided on the top of the envelope for use with a mounting wire, chain, or tie. These envelopes are sized to also fit standard maintenance/recharge tags.
